

Employee profile: Ingeborg Schumacher-Hummel

Job title & department Analyst – Specialised Investments

Rank Director

Responsibilities Ingeborg Schumacher is responsible in the area of Socially Responsible Investments (SRI) for the construction of mandate portfolios complying with environmental and social standards. She also handles internal and external marketing and public relations duties for the launched funds. She represents UBS in the board of Forum Nachhaltige Geldanlagen and in the European organisation EUROSIF

Career at UBS Ingeborg Schumacher began her career in the Swiss Bank Corporation's ecology department. Here she was responsible for the Environmental Performance Analysis project, which integrated ecological criteria with financial analysis. After the merger, her team in Institutional Asset Management developed and launched different SRI-Funds for private and institutional investors.

Education Ingeborg Schumacher studied at the universities Lüneburg and Avignon ecology and business administration. At the moment she works besides her job on a PHD at the University of St. Gallen.

Former experience While studying, Ingeborg Schumacher also worked with different environmental institutes in Germany and France. This offered her first-hand experience in writing environmental reports and ecological assessments of companies.

Updated: 01.03.03